

About Sarah Uthoff

Sarah Uthoff

Sarah Uthoff is a Laura Ingalls Wilder researcher from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where she is currently (since 2003) a reference librarian at Kirkwood Community College. She also serves as director of the Oxford Public Library in Oxford, Iowa. She is a founder of the Laura Ingalls Wilder Legacy & Research Association, presently serving as the Vice-President and Membership Chair. She is also listmistress for the Country School Association of America listserv and serves on their board.

She received both her BA in history education and her Masters of Library Science from the University of Iowa. Sarah has been visiting Laura's homesites on a regular basis since 1983. She has been a featured speaker at many Laura events, including ours in Pepin since 2006.

Sarah will present a new program called "In the Kitchen with Laura" on the Main Stage on Saturday, September 14th, at 2 PM; she is sponsored by the Pepin Public Library. Her Trundlebed Tales podcast is the only one devoted to Laura Ingalls Wilder and related topics.

Learn more about Sarah at trundlebedtales.com and beyondlittlehouse.com . Find her links around the Internet at http://about.me/sarah_uthoff